On 1 August, 56 young people embarked on their careers in our company.

The newcomers received useful welcome gifts and were given a tablet each. As digitalisation continues to advance, our newest workforce members are perfectly equipped for the challenges that lie ahead.

The Welcome Days in the first week of August offered the newcomers a varied programme: as well as a first aid course, the agenda included several lectures and a company presentation. The young trainees also met their instructors, ensuring a trusting learning environment right from the start. Plant tours of the sites in Selters, Ransbach-Baumbach and Siershahn provided an in-depth insight into the SCHÜTZ world, including an impression of our production processes. The Welcome Days ended with a joint barbecue afternoon in Selters, to which apprentices from the higher years were also invited. We currently have 146 apprentices and dual students in total. In times of a general shortage of skilled workers, this remarkable number serves to underline the excellent reputation that vocational training at SCHÜTZ enjoys.
