SCHÜTZ AND GIE SET UP
JOINT VENTURE

A new alliance for the circular economy on the Iberian Peninsula

The newly established cooperation between SCHÜTZ and GESTIÓN INTEGRAL DE ENVASES (GIE) combines the highest technological expertise with decades of market experience in the sustainable industrial packaging market. The joint venture's objective is to offer customers in Spain and Portugal a comprehensive range of eco-friendly packaging solutions, an extensive service portfolio and maximum supply security.

The new joint venture perfectly combines the strengths of both partners. As an owner-managed company, GIE has more than 30 years of experience in the reconditioning of industrial packaging. From its central Spanish location, the company offers a comprehensive range of services for IBCs, plastic and steel drums, including delivery, collection and cleaning. The processes are designed for maximum efficiency and environmental compatibility and meet the highest quality standards.

SCHÜTZ Ibérica has been operating in Spain since 1994 and currently runs three plants in Tarragona and Toledo equipped with state-of-the-art production technology. The world's most successful IBC system and high-performance plastic and steel drums are manufactured here. As part of the global SCHÜTZ TICKET SERVICE programme, emptied packaging is collected, ecologically reconditioned and high-quality HDPE granulate is recovered for reuse in SCHÜTZ packaging. SCHÜTZ Ibérica also produces modern tank systems for drinking water and heating oil as well as energy-efficient underfloor heating systems.

The partnership combines the expertise of both companies and enables them to expand their joint offering of new, washed and recycled packaging.

Customers benefit from technologically advanced products of the highest quality, greater availability of sustainable packaging solutions, optimised logistics structures and reduced CO₂ emissions in line with a modern circular economy.
